Town Hall Spring 2019

Wednesday, Mar. 6, 2019
9-10:30 a.m.
Grand Hall, Rice Memorial Center

Join President Leebron at the spring town hall meeting Wednesday, March 6, 2019. The discussion will take place in Rice Memorial Center’s Grand Hall. This is an opportunity for all Rice University employees to hear from President Leebron about progress the university has made since the adoption of the Vision for the Second Century, Second Decade (V2C2) as well as how Rice’s people and initiatives continue to make an impact outside the hedges. President Leebron will also give a brief update on the state of the university, including The Rice Investment and the higher education landscape.

A Brief History

!Image: A Brief History

On May 18, 1891, Massachusetts-born businessman William Marsh Rice chartered the William Marsh Rice Institute for the Advancement of Literature, Science and Art as a gift to the city of Houston, where he made his fortune. The terms of the charter required that work on the new institute would begin only after Rice’s death.

On Sept. 23, 1900, Rice was chloroformed to death by his valet, Charlie Jones, who had conspired with an unscrupulous lawyer, Albert Patrick, to murder the aging millionaire and claim his estate using a forged will. When an autopsy ordered by Rice’s attorney, Captains James A. Baker, revealed evidence of poisoning, Jones agreed to provide state’s evidence in return for immunity from prosecution. Patrick was convicted of murder and sent to Sing Sing. He was pardoned in 1912, the same year that classes began at the Rice Institute.

Tomorrow’s Thinking

Fostering diversity and an intellectual environment, Rice University is a comprehensive research university located on a 300-acre tree-lined campus in Houston, Texas. Rice produces the next generation of leaders and advances tomorrow’s thinking.
Over the next several decades, Rice University will comfortably secure its place as one of the world's major research universities. Scholars from around the world will seek out Rice for its world-class infrastructure and innovative collaborations, and in turn will help to shape Rice's culture for their own research needs.

Rice University's official logos consist of the Rice University wordmark and the shield logo, which have been paired together in multiple configurations to aid in their application across a variety of media.

Responsibility is something fundamental to a mission-driven academic community. We take responsibility for making Rice better, and also for our own happiness and success. We take responsibility for our actions and words, and understand how they may impact our friends and colleagues. We especially take responsibility for our mistakes. That way we can learn from them and even translate failure into success.

Integrity is one of the strongest threads in Rice’s cultural fabric. In the classrooms, offices, labs, field of play, in our residential colleges and in our community engagements, we are guided by our commitment to honesty and doing what’s right. This value is embedded in the notions of Rice’s honor and our Honor Code. We accept nothing less than complete academic and research integrity.

Inset Callout:

This Is Rice

A university on an inspired pursuit of the unknown. Our mission is to pursue pathbreaking research, provide unsurpassed teaching and, through that knowledge and discovery, contribute to the betterment of our world. We work together to achieve what some think is unachievable.

This is unconventional wisdom. This is Rice University.

Flexible Distribution Requirements

With the goal of giving undergraduates a broad education beyond their major, Rice has established flexible distribution requirements as part of the requirements for graduation. By the time they graduate, students must take 12 hours each in the fields of humanities, social sciences and applied sciences. Rice builds flexibility into the requirements so that students have the freedom to select the courses that interest them most.

Visit Rice’s General Announcements website for more information on graduation requirements for your degree.

Two Column Callout:

Unconventional Culture

Every Rice student is a member of one of our 11 residential colleges and maintains membership throughout their undergraduate years. Spirited communities where students live, dine and interact with peers, faculty, staff and alumni, the residential college system allows students to develop friendships and contribute to the betterment of each other’s lives and intellectual achievement. Within our colleges, legacies are born, traditions are celebrated and student spirit thrives.

Using This Guide

As a leading academic institution, we understand that education is not about teaching facts — it’s about helping students learn how to think.

Following the same philosophy, we have very little interest in putting words into anyone’s mouth — especially when communicating on behalf of our community here at Rice. As such, this verbal identity guide is not intended to offer verbatim messages you need to memorize. Rather, this resource exists to provide you with the tools and insight to craft your own messages that contribute to the collective identity of Rice.

How This Applies

This tool kit is not meant to be the exact messaging for all of your communication needs. It is available as guidance when you are crafting messages.

If everyone is creating messages that are inspired from the same conceptual foundation, it will reflect a consistency that lets audiences know that the collective sum of Rice is greater than its individual parts.
